Snow Warnings Out in Texas

Heavy snow warnings were issued for broad areas of Northwest, North Central and West Texas today as snow fell steadily, sometimes mixed with freezing rain, to glaze the highways and snarl traffic.

The Texas Highway Department reported three to four inches of snow in Scurry County and two to three inches in other areas west of Abilene.

LBJ Traverses Steps Of Familiar Capitol For Last Time Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's capital said farewell today to Lyndon B. Johnson in the Congress he served for 23 years and the church he attended as the 36th President.

"The years will be lonely without him," eulogized a close friend, Marvin Watson, minutes before the coffin was carried off to burial in the Texas hill country.

But first, in radiant sunshine, it was borne from the halls of his beloved Congress to four bursts of "Ruffles and Flourishes" and "Hail to the Chief" from a Coast Guard band as some 2,000 people stood in total silence on the Capitol

Then, at the National City Christian Church, came a final tribute from Watson, the late President's appointments secretary, and the rector, Dr. George Davis.

Watson spoke of Johnson's "devotion to his country" and his "restraint in the uses of power," while Davis said "for him, religion was

President Nixon and his wife Pat sat on an

Through the long night the coffin had lain in the Capitol Rotunda, between the House, where Johnson served a Texas district from 1937 to 1949, and the Senate, where he sat from 1949 to 1960 and over which he presided as vice president until 1963.

Johnson died Monday at his Texas ranch at the age of 64.

Thousands of ordinary Americans, many of them dressed casually, drifted past the coffin to say goodby.

Mrs. Johnson, smiling serenely and her head held high, walked 15 paces behind, followed by the rest of the former President's family. Little Patrick Nugent raised his hand to his forehead in salute, blinking his eyes in the sun. Nine years ago, another small boy, JohnJohn, offered a similar salute at the funeral of his father, President John F. Kennedy.

The military pallbearers eased the coffin through the rear of a hearse for the halfmile drive to the church.

Inside the packed church sat members of Congress and Supreme Court justices, black civil rights leaders, Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower, the Nixon daughters, Sen. George McGovern. Robert G. (Bobby) Baker, former Japenese Premier Eisaku Sato, Robert S. McNamara—a cross-section of friends and official acquain-

Following the service the coffin was carried from the church to the strains of "America, the Beautiful." The procession stopped for "Hail to the Chief." Then as the coffin was borne to the hearse Mrs. Johnson and her daughters said goodby to President and Mrs. Nixon.

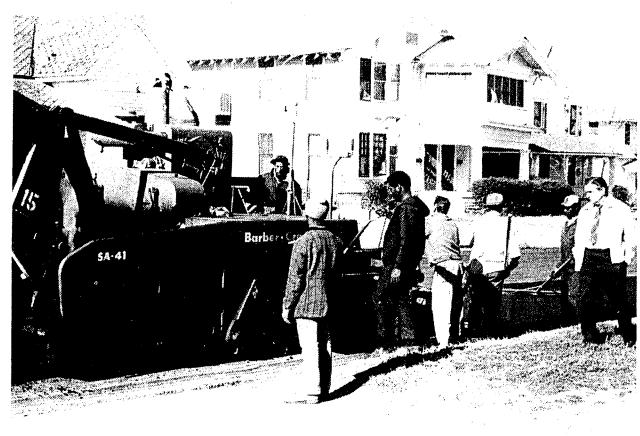

Moments later, the motorcade began a final passage through Washington streets and on to Andrews Air Force Base in suburban Maryland where an Air Force jet would carry the coffin and the family home to Texas for the afternoon

Johnson's silvery, flag-draped casket had been lain upon the Lincoln catafalque at the Capitol after a Wednesday afternoon procession that began near the other landmark of his power, the White House.

Mourners had lined the march route five and ten deep as Johnson was borne in stately military splendor up Constitution Avenue Wednesday. Even greater numbers, perhaps an eventual 30,000 filed somberly past his bier following a brief, solemn ceremony marked by the presence of his old colleagues in the Senate and dozens of other dignitaries.

President Nixon, who only hours before had proclaimed the Vietnam peace which had eluded Johnson so long, rode in the state procession behind the horse-drawn caisson. Inside the Capitol, he took Mrs. Johnson's arm as she heard her husband eulogized as a man "whose ambition for himself was nothing compared to his ambition for America."

"He gave me one guiding principle," said J.J. Pickle, Johnson's home congressman. "He said, 'When you vote, vote for the people.""

Citizens Mum in Public Hearing on $11.455 Million East Highway 31 Project

By RICHARD HADDAWAY

Sun Staff Writer Neither objections nor specific suggestions were voiced by citizens at the public hearing Wednesday concerning the proposed expansion to four lanes of State Hwy. 31 from west Corsicana to the Hill County line.

The public hearing was held in accordance with state and federal laws requiring Texas Highway Department officials to acquaint the public with proposed construction and consider testimony of citizens offering suggestions and criticisms of proposed routes.

The expansion of Hwy. 31, as explained by Assistant District Engineer Bob Yielding of the Texas Highway Department, will begin at the intersection of 34th Street and West Seventh Avenue and follow the existing right-ofway of Hwy. 31 through Dawson to the Hill County line. Yielding said the 21.5-mile proposed project is estimated to cost $11,455,000, with the state and federal governments dividing highway construction costs.

YIELDING SAID it is impossible to determine when construction might begin. He said preliminary plans for construction compiled by the resident engineer's office in Corsicana must first be approved by the Federal Highway Administration in Washington and the state engineer's office in

Then, Yielding explained, the project must be included in state and federal budgets before "preliminary engineering" begins. ("Preliminary engineering" includes preparing a detailed right-of-way map of each portion of land acauired by the State along the route.) Navarro County and the State have signed a contract agreeing to share equally the cost of preliminary engineering and right-of-way land acquisition and relocation costs of property owners, their buildings and utility lines, Yielding said. (The Federal government pays for half the construction costs.)

Yielding said the major results of the highway expansion will be to reduce traffic hazards and improve traveling convenience.

estimating reduction of the traffic fatality rate on the widened highway by one-fourth to one-sixth. He said the traffic accident rate will be reduced from one-half to one-third because the divided highway, separated by a 54-foot median, will reduce headlight glare, and narrow bridges will be widened.

The right-of-way of the existing highway was determined the most feasible for the expanded highway to follow, Yielding said.

The preliminary design of the proposed expansion was outlined under three sections by the assistant engineer:

(1) In Corsicana on West Seventh Avenue from the intersection of 34th Street to the intersection of 45th Street, all existing pavement will be removed, the grade will be lowered to improve drainage and a 64-foot wide, four-lane highway separated by a 16-foot median, including curbs, gutters and storm drainage facilities, will be constructed. Yielding said no right-of-way land will need to be purchased.

(2) On West Seventh Avenue from 45th Street to the City limits the highway will include four 12foot lanes separated by a 14-foot median with six-foot shoulders on each outside lane.

(3) From the City limit westward to the juncture of FM 55, an additional two lanes will be constructed to follow the existing highway on its south side to avoid interfering with water lines from Navarro Mills Reservoir to Corsicana. At FM 55 westward to the County line the additional two lanes will be constructed on the north side of the existing high-

The new highway will be divided by a 54-foot median, and construction will require taking 80 feet of right-of-way land on the south side of the existing highway to FM 55 and on the north side to the County line,

F.M. Simmons, district rightof-way engineer with the Texas Highway Department, said three businesses, six residences involving 24 people and one church will have to be relocated by the State because of the highway construction. Simmons explained in detail the process affected property owners must follow to be compensated for property acquired.

None of the property owners present complained about the proposed acquisition in the public hearing.

Civic and governmental leaders expressing support for the project Iwere Don Bowen and Tom White of the Chamber of Commerce, Navarro County Commissioner Arlon Simmons, County Judge Robert Dunn, City Commissioner Bob Scott and Leonard Tanner of the City Council of Dawson.

Yielding said any additional suggestions or criticisms by local citizens before the preliminary report must be sent in writing within ten days to the resident highway engineer's office, Rt. 1, Corsicana. 🦫

Balancing a book on the head while walking is an old poise-developing technique for beauty contestants which Molly Kent, center, considers a thing of the past. Miss Kent, 19, of Kerens learned a few ideas about poise last year when she won first runner-up in the 1972 Miss Corsicana Pageant. Two other contestants in the pageant scheduled for March 16-17 are 18-yearold Gwenda Swearengin of Ennis, left, and 19-year-old Brenda Hubbard of Dawson, right.
